

Study sheet prepared by the Youth Exhibition Poultry Assn.

BUFF LACED POLISH

This photo, permission for YEPA to use by Sammie Jo Rausch, is a very nice example of a pet quality type of buff laced Polish that might be from a farm store or hatchery, compared to one that is of show quality bred and raised by a breeder. As you can see there is a notable difference in the color and lacing.

To learn more about this breed please refer to the APA Standard of Perfection.

